A. Introduction

This article examines the role of 3DQJOLPD/DOMENO mander of the Sea), as an adat institution in Aceh. They have played important role in re-establishing customary law of sea. Indeed, there have many studies on 3DQIOLPD\partition \text{Distribution} by local scholars.\frac{1}{2} However, John Kurien said that "there are not known to have been any studies published on how the 3DQIOLPDIDES MET role, or how they view the changes that are occurring".² I involved in this institution when I was asked to conduct a research on the future of 3DQJOLPDIDDING hown visited several areas in Aceh to conduct field research, started from Banda Aceh to Aceh Tamiang and South Aceh. Thus, this article is part of a field report during my trip as a consultant for a UN-FAO programme in Aceh. I utilized ethnographic method to understand inner way of life among fishermen in A ceh. A s my back ground in Islamic studies, who are not familiar with fishermen communities, at the beginning I did not understand what and how role of 3DQ/OLPD/DDGGGGGGGGTal areas. However, after I travelled to some coastal areas I have a better understanding on how the religious ritual and cultural reproduction among A cehnese society.3 What I would

There have been many studies on adat institution in Indonesia.⁴ In Aceh, John R. Bowen has done extensive studies on adat in G ayo Highland, Central Aceh.⁵ Kahn said that "It is our first modern anthropological account of the culture and society of a people previously documented in detail only in the work of the Dutch Islamicist Snouck Hurgronje in 1903." In Aceh, studying adat is seen as as key concept to understand the way of life of Acehnese society. However, Arskal Salim said that "resurgence of adat in Aceh has still received relatively little attention." Siegel's anthropological studies in Pidie also has shown how adat had been practiced in Acehnese society related to family, trade, and

B. The History of Panglima La'ōt

M any studies on the 3D QJ OL PD/DC M mander of the Sea) and $GD W/D M was formary law of Sea) in A ceh argued that the Comander of the sea aims to maintain $GD W/D M the right of fisher community. Historically, this institution had been recognized as the adat institution. Van Vollenhoven writes:

There is a great deal of variety in Acehnese official dom. Next to the chief one may find a relative called his banta or helper, being more less what, before 1900. There are PX N [] Readmen and the tetrarchs and wak i or deputies in the dependencies. At the ports, those 'centres of relative civilization and wealth in all Malay countries', are the V\DKEDQ (GD-U) collectors]; at the estuaries a N >H@SDOD (DUXE HO) waterway room open, and a SDZLQJ (N UXCHQ) intain a ferry service from which the headman shared the remuneration; at market places on the east coast K DULD (Collect dues, and SDQJOLPD (COLLECT) and import; SDQJOLPD (SUDQ) [military commanders] to collect wase and taxes in peace time. 17

It is clear that the job of a Panglima was to monitor the activities at the ports and had nothing to do with fishing activities as many scholars argued. Historically, the ports in A ceh were 'meeting points' of many activities (economic, political, religious, and culture).¹⁸ Lee K am H ing maintains that:

[A]t the beginning of the nineteenth century, [Aceh] was estimated to have about 300,000 inhabitants. Its produce attracted traders who sought camphor, sappanwood, dammar, rattan, and beeswax. Pepper and betelnut were by far the most significance items of trade during this period. Some rice, as well as horses, was exported from the [Pidie] coats while a small quantity of gold was mined in the interior. Items imported into A ceh were opium, cloth, iron, muskets, gunpowder, various Indian piecegoods, and an assortment of Chinese articles.¹⁹

Furthermore, Bernard H.M. Vlekke adds: "The [Acehnese] ports at the island's northern point were natural halting places for the European coming from the west. This fact helped the princes of [Aceh] to concentrate the pepper trade of most of Sumatra in their country and allowed them to organize monopoly which the Europeans merchants could not ignore." Regarding religious affairs, Yusny Saby records that "personal contact played the role in the Islamization process. The early sailors or travelers, on their business in the region, often had to stay for long periods of time for some reason." ²¹

Due to the fact that the I slamic K ingdom of A ceh was established around the coastal areas, thus it is also interesting to see the status of 3DQJOLPD[DING]. Ali describes the structure and administration of the government²⁵ as follows:

The smallest social unit is the <code>kawom</code> (from A rabic <code>TDX</code> <code>P</code> people, tribe): a group of <code>kawoms</code> forms the <code>gampong</code> (village); <code>gampongs</code> from the <code>PXNLP</code> (like districts); <code>PXNLP</code> from <code>XOHHEBIOID</code> (Q)OHHEBIOID (Perated into <code>sagi</code> (like province); and the confederation of the three <code>sagis</code>, and the actual territory of the <code>6XOWIDOID</code> (The <code>6XOWDPODWH</code>

One of Acehnese axiom for the sustainability of customary law is DGDWEDNSRWHXPMXWRPEXDRPLYLDK. PARQUODEDNSXWURHSXWURHSXWURHSSXWURHSXWU

The shrinking of royal power and the rise of the power of RUDOIND D especially during the period after the death of Iskandar Muda (1636), resulted in a more decentralized system of government. This was evidence by the formation of an executive council of four senior RUDQ/NSD-Dortly after the enthronement of Safiyyat al-Dīn in 1641. The members of the council were the TDGQPDOLND COUNCIL OF TDKDUDM DCYHUL PDKDUD the laksamana, and the SDQJOLPD[%DQGDU[RUDQJ[ND\D.[PADfe@UDMD[OHOD years later, the executive body still considered of four main councilors, each of whom held specific responsibilities. The second was the RUDQIND\DIPDKDUDMDN, HILLION DUDMD responsible for matters pertaining to political administration. The third was the panglima dalam, like the lak samana, was in the change of the security of the capital city and the military. Finally, there was the SDQJOLPDEDQGDU who was responsible for the administration of foreign trade in the port and the security of foreign merchants and their properties. This form of government was to last until the end of the seventeenth century, with only minor changes to the titles borne by the official involved.³⁵

Thus, adat it is not about cultural heritage, but more so as a form of government system. A bdullah argues that the term has two overlapping meanings: "First, adat is perceived as an all-embracing term for the rules of behavior and social institutions that the society holds to be legitimate and true. The second meaning of adat refers to local tradition, ruler and regulations, and institutional remnants from pre-Islamic times." However, the whole A cehnese government system should be based on Islamic teaching. That was why the role of the DX OD Propinion or justification was referred to as KXNR(Paw). It is said that "KXNRaPad adat are like the pupil and the white of the eye: the KXNRiPad Illah's KXNRaPad the adat Allah's adat." This is a result of the collaboration between the rulers and the XOD Propinion the Islamic kingdoms in A ceh. Yusny Saby writes that "XOD Propinion of the works done by the DX OD Propinion commissioned by the kings or the queen."

However, during the colonial period, there was a question about this system (the harmonization between adat and KXNR Palled "reception theory" which was proposed by Christian Snouck Hurgronje. A ccording to this theory:

Islamic law could only be effective and binding upon Indonesian if it were consistent with or derived from the customary law, the adat. The living law for Indonesia people, was, therefore, seen as being rooted not in religious law but rather in customary law. In the case Minangkabau, Hurgronje acknowledged that fact that Islam had been dominant in the region for along period, but insisted that the domestic institutions of that "are in many respects in conflict with the religious law." This phenomenon he also found to be the case in other regions of Indonesia, and A ceh, the region where Islam is most deeply rooted, was in his view no exception in this respect.40

It is clear that in the case of Aceh there is a separation of adat and Islamic law, with regards to this theory. Daniel S. Lev records:

Snouck's criticism of the reorganization on 1882 had had some influence in official circles. But more important, the adat law scholars were successfully battling efforts either to codify adat law or to impose European codes on all population groups, and they were about to take on more delicate programs. In 1922 the colonial government created a commission to look again in the question of the SULHVW [[ptilesD & DelinQti]]. It was not a commission likely to delight I slamic groups. This commission adopted some of Snouck's proposal. The incorrectly labeled SULHVW [[ptilesD GHQ [] council]] was now named SHQJKXOX [[ptilesD filed with the consist SHQJKXOX] [[ptilesD

The meaning and authority of adat have been changed due to the socio historical facts, namely, after the D utch implemented this theory. Article 129 of Law of Establishment of the Netherland Indies which was passed in 1929 states that in all cases of civil law between Indonesian M uslims, I slamic law would be used only if adat law demanded it. This, according to R atno Lukito:

The role of Islamic law in the colony was diminished since it was ignored by every law enacted by the colonial government. The Dutch benefited from a pluralism of law as pathway to impede Islamic law while local customary law was revitalized in the native society.⁴²

From the beginning, A cehnese have used adat as their main instrument of the government which recently has become their cultural

C. Cultural landscapes of Panglima La'ōt

This section provides the current position of Panglima La' Wh Acehnese society. It covers from different setting areas where the data were collected for this study. There is no a clear answer on role of Panglima ID SG. Who ostly there is a common perception on this institution is a heritage from the K ingdom of Aceh. After tsunami in 2004, people would add by saying that the job of 3DQJOLPD DAG WAN Afford Who is there is a regional meeting of 3DQJOLPD DAG WAN Afford would travel to Banda Aceh (capital city of Aceh province) to attend the meeting where they would discuss the problems of fisher community. One of the issue that raised the role of 3DQJOLPD DAG WANN munity and how to sustain the A dat L a' G.W

While in other part of the fisher community we found that there is a NDPSRQJ [QHOWD] [DNQ] ways has the same atmosphere: a) some fishermen who take trip to the sea for several hours or days; b) a group of children who play around the coast with local tourists; c) women who stay at their house and chatting with their neighbours or looking for lice; d) a group of people enjoying their coffee or tea in ZDUXQJ [NOR Schffee stalls while they enjoy watching the television or cinema. These are type of setting that we see since 1980s. In one NDPSRQD example, after their primary school the young boys' next job is to clean boats or collect fish. Finally, their last jobs are PXJ Haman who sell fish to remote areas by motorcycle) or WRNH DQJ MAXT who set the price of fish near the sea). In fact, this is a higher position that he could achieve in their life due to their lack of education. However, for those QHODWDQ have their own boats, he could send his children to school until the university level.

A fisherman told us that their income was like 'UDVHXNLQ (tig) ArHQJ

⁴⁹ Muhammad Junus Djamil, *HUDN[HEDQ]NLWDQ[$FHK[XPSXODQ[DU\D[$HMDU]ed. by Anas M . Yunus (Bandung: Jaya Mukti, 2005), p. 150.

Iivelihood) which means, he can not predict his income monthly or yearly. This is because if plenty of fish is caught, their income is likely to be lower. The most important thing for his family is to be able to buy rice and give pocket money to their children. Thus, if there is any extra 'UDVHXNL [] ULPX' Qhey must save it for the day when they could not get plenty offish. An informant in L hokseumawe (N orth A ceh) said that WRNH []D Qoth X [] the price of the fish by calling some of his friends in the same district to check if he could give a good price according to the current situation in his territory. Thus, many of pawangs sell their fish from the boat at sea to increase their income. A fisherman said that in this business, only two persons who can be rich are the WRNH []D Qoth Monton only sell after he has taken for food which he would report to the owner of boat later.

Furthermore, some fishermen mentioned about the use of black magic (HOH) Aphibing their community. It is well known that many pawangs or even 3DQJOLPD D D WING Well lized black magic (HOH) Which is not only for their fishing activities, but also for their social life. Some of pawing knows how to 'call' fish to their boat. Then, other pawing would see this is unfair. Usually after they arrive the NXDOD river mouth, he would go to cast a spell on some boat equipment with VLK(khlaman). Most of the target of the magic is the net or some places on a boat. The QHODIND The that this is old Acehnese tradition. Many of Pawang must learn about this knowledge as well. It does relate to the career of 3DQJOLPD DO THE BOAT WING BEGAN WOW about this problem. Many of the QHODIND THE East coast of Aceh know where there is black magic or witchcraft in their territory. For example, in Sungai Payau, Aceh Tamiang, black magic is a common tradition.

A top 3DQJOLPD (D) Sknown for this tradition even though Islam prohibits black magic. However, he turned our discussion about a problem in A dat La' regarding the social change in the Acehnese community. Although black magic is not a real problem it is still an internal problem within the fishing community. A senior fisherman in his 70s in Lhok K reng, near Banda A ceh city said that the requirement of being QHODitoroft only black magic but bravery. He said that the old generation was very brave, because they did not have good fishing equipment. They could read the cycle of the moon and the signs of the stars when they need to go back to their home base. He tended to compare his generation with the new-generation in terms of technology. He explained that using black magic was not important anymore, but some of old-generation did utilize this power during their activities on the sea.

After understanding the tradition, the discussion turned to the career of 3DQJOLPD/DAG Mandidate for the position should understand the tradition and $GDW/DAG Mey can start as DQHXN(aMber Man) who works under the pawang), deputy pawang, pawang, and then, the community would conduct in election to select the 3DQJOLPD/DAG W/KSRAM that this is against the history of 3DQJOLPD/DAG MAIGH the appointment was by the Sultan or his deputy such as s\DKEDQ6DBOHEDOD DAG the the election, the 3DQJOLPD/DAG the guardian of fisher society.

To see their role in society, this study will show how the society organizes a yearly festival which called <code>.KDQGXUL[D]DGGME</code> are two groups of society which hold the <code>.KDQGXUL[D]DGGME</code> stival). The first is community is the <code>.KDQGXWMIGT</code> is not considered to be against the religious teaching. The second society claims that the <code>NKDQGXMILITGODK[]</code> (innovation) in Islamic teaching. An informant explains the reason of the abolition:

We do not know about the origin of this tradition, some even said this is part of Hinduism. However, after several years, we could not get plenty offish in our area due to the fact that we didnot hold any NK DQGXDXXVV This is because we did not make any thanks for the owner of the sea, so the sea would not give us plenty offish. Our QHODWEQTTO other areas instead of doing any activity in our territory.

For the society that could not hold the .K DQG Xtbl & 3DQJOLPD D W could not do anything. Thus, this becomes a major problem for his community. A villager informed us that the problem of .KDQGXUL[D] W was about the thanking with the sea, but with V K DU the possible is with Allah. There is a dominant group of Muslim reformist. However, he said that after the abolition of .KDQGXUL[D] Wers did not get much fish on their territory. One local scholar said that .KDQGXUL[D] W of Islamic tradition, not as Hindu legacy as many A cehnese claimed. Some villagers who are Islamic reformists would see that such A cehnese tradition as part of Hinduism or Buddhism. In West A ceh, the QHOD DQ still hold .KDQGXUL[D] Sti

After the independence of Indonesia, A ceh was granted to implement the VKDU LAW Kand adat institution. Many laws have been passed until today. There have been many conflicts within its society and between A ceh and the state in A cehnese history. In fact, there is a hierarchy of power among the A cehnese. There is no VXO LAND OF MILE authority of XOHEDIOLOGICAL Even so, some 3DQJOLPD TO TO WILL Still work for their community and some said they could still control the fishing industry in their territory. It can be said that they do not have any authority above them. Before this they used to work with pangima NUXHOJDKEDQUAND WOHEDASDIOLISTATION AS GUASDIOLISTATION STATES TO STATES A CUSTOM AND CONTROL OF THE STATES A CUSTOM AND STATES AND STATES A CUSTOM AND STATES AND STATES A CUSTOM AND STATES AND STAT

Apart from this problem, after the implementation of Snouck's policy toward a 'separation between adat and Islamic law, there have been many internal conflicts among the Acehnese. As Benda writes: "In Aceh vigorous military actions against fanatical XODP® mbined with Dutch support for adat chiefs, as long last brought about the termination of the war. Thus, it would not be surprising if after the independence era, all of the products of $GDWQHXNXWXWQODP® regarded as a 'living tradition' under two categories: the Islamic law and national law. It is said that the 'living tradition' was not because of they had chiefs but due to the legacy of their LQGD and destor) which was later named as local wisdom.

D. Panglima La' ot and Adat La' ot in Socio-Political Life

"4D Q WAQTeh will be re-established for Aceh respecting the historical traditions and customs of the people of Aceh and reflecting legal requirements of Aceh" (Point 1.1.6).

"The Institution of Wali N anggroe with all its ceremonial attributes and entitlements will be established" (1.1.7).

As mentioned above, that the TDQMsQproblem to the tradition of the women folk that is symbolized by the Queen of Pahang (Putroe Phang) that is termed as "4DQMQDNDXWUR'HMNDDMic studies, TDQMsQpfined as "code of regulation" and "state law." The purpose of TDQMsQpstrengthen and supplement of the VKDUMDD upersede it. Thus, it can be argued that TDQMMQpch is as part of the implementation of VKDUMDD wever, there is a problem with the term of :DOLDDQJJURH which has not been considered as being the supremacy of many TDM is issued by the Aceh government. In fact, this is higher institution in Aceh as proposed by the MoU. This term (ZDOLQDQ) is to form of the head of state that is declared in the 3LDJDPMDWHDALDQBWMHKGDODPDLQJNXQJDQDHJD (The Charter on the Establishment of Aceh Federal State under State of Indonesian Islam) signed on 21 September 1953 by D aud B eureueh. 54

Historically, it seems that the term of :DOL IDQJJ UR HESI ignated as the title for Tgk. Hassan di Tiro who appointed himself as Wali 1DQJJ U.R H fact, this is a title as a result of the Darul Islam rebellion which is not under the continuity of A cehnese history. This is because the structure of adat is under the Sultan, not under :DOL IDQJJ URMen, it is also vague why in the MoU both parties (GAM and the Government of Indonesia) agreed that "The Institution of :DOL IDQJJ UM th all its ceremonial attributes and entitlements will be established." (Point 1.1.7). In fact the 'attributes' of :DOL IDQJJ URMelated to the head of Negara Islam Indonesia which was part of the struggle of NII (Islamic State of Indonesia). Thus, it seems that the title of :DOL IDQJJ URMEN MOU which was not seen as 'adat heritage.' It can be claimed that this term is used because of the position of Tgk. Hasan di Tiro who claims to continue the spirit of Tgk. D aud Beureueh in his organization, GAM.

On 22 May 1977 in Halimon Mountain of Aceh Pidie, GAM which was called RIA (The Republic of Aceh Islam) used this title (Wali 1DQJJU)AF Har Tgk. Hasan di Tiro and his deputy (WDNLODOLDDQ),JURH Tgk. Muchtar Yahya Hasbi Geudong. Surprisingly, RIA gave another new-title for Tgk. Daud Beureueh, that is, OXIWL [PSD] FINO OTHER Islamic Jurist Council). It can be assumed that the using of OXIWL [PSD] PSD] relate position of TSGKL PSOLND ASD OF COLOCOLD in the era of Islamic Kingdom in Aceh.

Lately, the revival of adat institutions is being exposed under the institution of MAA (ODMHOLV GD)WARDAMK it is unclear about the re-positioning of adat institutions in Aceh. Recently, there have been 4DQ Wand Laws passed as part of exit point from the MoU to revive the adat institution in Aceh, including 3DQJOLPD DIMONIONO. 8 of the 2008 D evelopment of Custom Chapter IV, Article 6 (1) mentiones that: (The Wali N anggro is responsible to sustain, develop, protect, and to maintain DGD deforms and cultures). Furthermore, in Qanūn No.10 of 2008 on Customary Institution states that:

The institution of :DOL []DQJJUiß hdat leadership institution to unify society and to sustain custom and cultural lives (Article 1, point 11).

The adat institution that mentioned in Article 2 point (2) and point (3) are under the construction of :DOL DOJJUR Hicle 42, point 1).

The construction that mentioned in point (1) is implemented by the $ODMHOLV \ GOM \ BFHK42$, point 2).

A I-Jigmi ah, bl. 5N a. 70M #H

The way of construction that mentioned in point (2) will be arranged by the :DOL 如DQJJU(A 性 le 42, point 3).

A slong as there is no re-establishment of :DOL LDQJJU$6Hit arrangement will be performed by the MAA (Article 44).

It is clear how the adat institution overlaps, including the Pangima /D \(\)

The calling of Tgk. Hasan di Tiro among GAM members has not been recognized as the formal institution of :DOL IDQJJ URIHIDE entire Acehnese people, including the re-formalization of customary law. It can be argued that this institution is a 'contested power or concept' to the authority of Indonesian government during the conflict since since 1950s until 2005, when the MoU of Helsinki was signed. Tgk. Daud Beureueh and Tgk. Hasan di Tiro declared themselves as :DOL IDQJJ UAR Hall of their rebellion to the Indonesian government. In this context, Tgk. Hasan di Tiro has claimed himself :DOL IDQJJ UAR Helphad established GAM as his VXFFHV V.RU WDWH

Due to the 'ghost institution', some of the 'arrangements' of Wali 1DQJJURabk are being assisted by international donor or UN agencies. IOM (International Organization for Migration), for example, works with Indonesian Police to revive the traditional institutions such as PXNL, PWXKWDDD, Das Dave the umbrella of POLMAS (3ROLVLDDV\DUDNDW Civil Police). Then, Leuser Foundation and perhaps Flora International have supported the traditional institution of 3HXWXDDHX (DHX AND LEVEL OF LEVEL) with forest issues like SHXWXDDHX (DHX AND LEVEL) other pawangs under the traditional of DGDW (CHARLO BY SERVE) adat). While UN-FAO, under the support of American Red Cross, works closely with DKP (A ceh Sea and Fisheries Agency) and the 3DQJOLPDD (B) MIN deleted.

the coastal areas under the program of Co-Management. David Curie, a former project coordinator, writes that "the project is working to support the sustainable development of Aceh's fisheries, and aquaculture sector through training and capacity building, securing livelihoods and building dynamic communities". Thus, it is not surprising that all of international organizations acted as the ':DOL DOJJURH ceh, while waiting to establish the 'real' :DOL DOJJURH

In 2001 when 3DQJOLPD/ MANGE was revived and established, they received local and national attention, especially after the case of Thailand boats. After the Indonesian government arrested the boats, many local scholars, 'adat leaders and "their lobby" went to Jakarta. Finally, there were 14 billion Rupiah for the Acehnese people. Then, some of local people asked Sarwono K usumaatmadja, former Minister of Maritime, to give the money to the Acehnese fishermen as 'trust fund'. 58 To make this formal, a group of people invited all 3DQJOLPD/DXGW/KRN to Sabang to a GX HNSD/MDeWing) to revive a 3DQJOLPD/DXGW/KRN At the end of this GX HNSD/MDeWagreed to allocate 3.5 billion rupiah as trust fund for scholarship to be managed by YPMAN.

However, in 2000 there was also provincial meeting of Panglima /D \(\subseteq \text{Mh} \) 6-7 June 2000. Under this 'umbrella' the money could be saved and the PLP could be revived. However, the words 'to coordinate' and 'to facilitate' were very interesting to describe. This is because PLP was given theauthority to deal with the government at the provincial and national level. It is reported that since 2002, the YPMAN gave the scholarship to 350 children of QHODSDQM 2003 while it increased to 700 in 2004. The total recipients of scholarship in 2005 was 1.225.59 The PLP has played an important role in many areas with different setting. In A ceh, they have dealt with the local government and other state apparatus such as police, naval army, DKP, and MAA.60

In the international arena, they have always worked with international organizations on fisher forum, Indonesian embassies abroad, UN agencies, etc. Currently, the PL of A ceh has been registered as member of WFFP (World Forum of Fisher People) in O ctober 2008. One of the staff, Mr. Adli Abdullah, former secretary of PLP, was selected as member of ICSF (International Collective in Support of Fishworkers) in 2007 and had been given the award of Building Better World from CHF (Community Habitat Finance) in D ecember 2006 due to his role in this organization and other contributions in the reconstruction process after the Tsunami in A ceh.⁶¹

There are some factors that are being utilized by the PLP. After the re-establishment of PLP in 2001 it was changed in 2008 to Pangima /D \(\subseteq W \) \(\subseteq F,H) \(\text{K} \) organization have struggled in five areas. The first is to urge the recognition of this institution in front of the Aceh government. The second, to advocate the right of fishermen not only in A dat L a'ot, but also when some fishermen were arrested in some countrieslike Thailand, M alaysia, Burma, and India⁶² and to combat the using of trawls for fishing activities. The third is to empower the capacity of fishermen by encouraging them to cultivate crops so that they can depend more on 'the land. The fourth is to be a mediator as the best representative of adat institution in dealing with the state apparatus. The fifth is to internationalize this organization.

Thus, there are some 'recipes' that we have seen in previous years. The main thing is the PLA lobbies many kinds of organization, from GAM, Indonesian military to the UN agencies. Thus, many of fisher rights and needs are always the priority of their lobby, especially during the conflict and reconstruction process. Thus, the PLA has been seen as an important 'adat institution that has bargaining power with many interests group. The other thing is how the PLA work with media, especially the daily of Serambi Indonesia. Many of PLA activities have been covered by the local and national media.⁶⁴ This would give public opinion and attention, especially when they have difficulties withtheir lobby. Furthermore, the PLA can be a 'third party' when the fishermen are not satisfied with many of the government programme. ⁶⁵ Thus, the fishermen would report directly to the PLA if they have a problem, especially like the case of setting trawl boats on fire by fishermen in Kuala Simpang and A ceh Jaya. Then, the PLA through their 'connections' would solve the problem on behalf of the fishermen. However, the problem of boat registration becomes a critical, especially when the Police or N aval army arrested some boats. ⁶⁶

It can be argued that the PLA can be a model of adat institution in Aceh. They do not only maintain their tradition, but also work with many groups of societies which indicates that they are not only a traditional but also amodern organization. The role of PLA together with the $GDWD \text{36} Mmost similar with the 6D Wh M aluku. It is reported that" in Maluku, the sasi institution provides a useful model and basis for the development of modern institutions that could be integrated with provincial and national agencies in fisheries co-management". 67 Thus, it is safe to say that in term of preserving thecoastal areas resources, the traditional institution could play an important role as we have seen in the contribution of PLA or sasi in Maluku. 68

It seems that there have been many changings in relation to concept of adat in A ceh. In I slamic studies, $\partial DG DS M = 0$ as $\partial X UW$ hich means local custom. I have elaborated the experience of $\partial DG DU = 0$ institution in A ceh, historically and socio-anthropologically. This study can be linked to I slamic studies, especially on I slamic law discourse. As $\partial X U = 0$ part of sources in I slamic legal system. This is because this case is also can be found in the era of O ttoman empire. It is reported that " $\sum X U = 0$ most of time a preservation pf pre-O ttoman practices, was the dominant

E. Concluding Remarks

Aceh. The first is the society still needs the Panglima L a's in the Adat L a'ot. However, this 'need' can be defined into several categories. The first is the PL could maintain the social relationship within the society where he could solve the conflict among the fishermen. The second is the PL could work as a'traditional symbol' to follow their indigenous culture such as NKDQGX ULISATINGULAR THOUGHT HOW THE have many challenges against this indigenous culture as being non-Islamic, but it has been implemented for several decades since there are religious values such as 'thanking to Allah' when conducting the ceremony. Thus, the 3DQJOLPDIDEGUNCT work closely with the local religious leaders or X OD ROGANIZATION Such as MPU.75

The second aspect is 3DQJOLPDID IS WIDE ANSIDEW ON TO LED IN L. hok should give their best effort for their community, not only for administrative and advocacy purposes, but also in term of sustaining the historical values of 3DQJOLPDID IN this article we have examined that this institution was not only as a 'cultural heritage' but also as part of the Kingdom apparatus. Thus, the society should be in order to revive the spirit of 'real adat' as decided by the government. In Islamic studies, this process can be seen as the transformation of 'X Ufirom socio-legal-cultural heritage as living tradition.

This would lead to a crucial problem, especially about the higher status of the institution that acts as 'umbrella' for the adat institution such as Pangima La'ot. The major problem is that there is no Sultan in A ceh and it is rumoured to have revived the institution of :DOL IDQJJURH H owever, this is not part of the DGDW IN HOT but, Devicted there have been many 4DQX passed by the government, but there it not clear what the function of :DOL IDQJJURH Symbolizes the leader during the rebellion during the era of D auh Beureu-eh and H asan di Tiro. This problem would cause a problem among the 'adat institutions in A ceh. This is because the higher authority of adat institution is MAA (ODMHOLG SGD) WAS FIGHT.

On study of MPU, see Moch Nur Ichwan, "Official Ulema and the Politics of Re-Islamization: The Majelis Permusyawaratan Ulama, Shañ'atization and Contested Authority in Post-New Order Aceh", -RXUQDORI [VODPL/66/VZX, 6d. A VZQ11), pp. 183-214.

is also not a part of 'adat institution. We have found that the revival of adat institution should be from the bottom-up.

The other problem is the overlapping of authorities in the field such as the role of the Police and N aval army. As they live among the fishing community this would cause many structural problems. The case in Aceh Tamiang and some Panglima La'ot which led to some deaths during the conflict can be an example of this problem, especially when the peace process hasended. In this context the government officials caused a problem in the distribution of donations to the fishermen. Many fishermen have rejected the donation from the government because it did not meet what the fishermen needed. This could also lead to the authority of Panglima L a'ot, namely if there is a need for fishermen to go to the state for their daily affairs. The final aspect is the need of sustaining the role of Panglima La'ot A ceh in Banda Aceh. As this was revived due to large of money from the case of Thailand's boat and becoming an influential adat institution, so the next task of this institution is to sustain and to keep work with many agencies in Banda A ceh, Jakarta, and international arena. Thus, the reformalization of Panglima La'ot to be a success if they could not make a smooth of regeneration. Besides this, using Pandima L a'ot as a political vehicle could be a problem in future when the regime is changed. In this situation, it is safe to say that that the Panglima L a'ot A cen should increase their internal capacity building rather than being involved in the political arena.
