Thank you for your email, we are from the team of writers thanking the article already in publish on the website, but we are disappointed with the results of publish, because based on my discussion with you that our article will be publish on the regular edition but in fact a special edition issue, so that in the future we and my partner in several campuses in Indonesia and Malaysia will think twice if you want to because what we need now is beside the transfer knowledge also keep the trust that has been given it is more mainstream, moreover already in the form of LoA can still be changed this is a remarkable thing. Because all we are not always a writer but I and friends of this author is also as a reviewer and also an editor on some journals. We apologize, and success is always for your journal. Tq

Best regards,
Masrizal

Thank you for your response, I am sorry to know this. I will make sure that your future publications are published in regular issues, just to make it clear the we have lots of papers and it is not easy for editorial issue to separate paper for regular and special issue, we have one unique identifier for regular and special issue and which is the cost of publication, for your information that we have recently published a regular issue as well.
