Reviewer(s)' Comments to Author:

Referee: 1

Recommendation: Minor Revision

Comments:

Title:

the title can be made more specific - Who is homo Islamicus: A Quranic perspective of Economic agents in Islamic economics.

Abstract:

1. Under Purpose, "This paper aims to explain the nature of economic agent in Islamic economics (homo Islamicus)." There are already a lot of literature "explaining the nature of ... homo Islamicus" since the start of Islamic revivalism (e.g. writings by Mawdudi and other pioneers of IE), and in recent years we also have a number of textbooks in Islamic economics discussing the same ; hence the purpose of this potentially a 'journal article' must be more specific and able to fill the existing gap in the body of knowledge in the area.

2. Under Design/methodology/approach – The description of the methodology used for the study in the abstract is not in line with the description of the author in the main text of the article, i.e. "A theory of ethics that would properly capture all-dimensions of human-self, his nature, well-being, and his relationship with other beings will be developed based on the Qur'anic teachings."

3. Under Findings- Please include a brief summary of the findings; at the moment it is too general.

4. The write-up on Research limitations/implications is not appropriate; please revise.

5. Under Practical implications- The discussion in the paper is entirely normative based; the author should explain how this normative behavioural framework of homo Islamicus "... will portray all concepts in actual realities."

6. Under Originality- The author suggests that the paper "promotes a conception of economic agent in Islamic perspective (termed as homo Islamicus)"- the concept of homo Islamicus has been used as a representation of an economic agent in theorizing Islamic economics for many decades now, and therefore claiming to "promote" this concept is not appropriate.

Introduction:

1. The opening of the article should be revised to reflect the focus of the article, i.e. economics. The article should start with the notion of economics as part of the discourse in moral philosophy; then the discussion can elaborate further about the philosophy of ethics/moral philosophy, etc.

2. "However, as Pojman (2006: ix) notes that ethics "is often being constructed to serve human "needs and desires" rather than to be the guidance of how human being should be as we will note in this article."

The above statement is not clear; what the author is trying to argue? Needs clarification.

3. Please include a short gap analysis in the introduction section; Are the current literature on homo Islamicus in Islamic economics lack in this specific area given that the concept of homo Islamicus has been used to represent economic agents in Islamic economics for many decades now?? The gap analysis can help the readers of this journal on how this paper contributes to the current body of knowledge.

4. The author should include/acknowledge past literature in Islamic economics that have introduced the term homo Islamicus in Islamic economics literature.

5. At the end of the introduction section, please also give a brief structure of the paper and how they assist the paper in achieving the stated objective.

The Self of Homo Islamicus

1. "However, unlike homo Economicus, homo Islamicus is having clear objectives in all his actions, namely "to maximize moral energy, to control and harness his desire, make it obedient to his intellect and thus arrive at spiritual freedom" (Mutahhari, 1983: 33)."

The concept of homo economicus is introduced here without sufficient context and description. Perhaps a critique of homo economicus can be inserted in the Introduction section as part of the justification for the need of having homo Islamicus as the microfoundation of Islamic economics to provide the context for the above statement.

2. "This is possible by introducing moral values as part of preference functions, internalizing moral norms or rules as motives as well as constraints in actions, and incorporating those values and moral positions in policy prescriptions (Furqani, 2017)."

The above policy/practical implications (along with other potential implications) should be highlighted in the conclusion section.

Homo Islamicus' Wellbeing

1. To be consistent with other sections, and to be in line with the title of the paper--'Qur'anic perspective', this section should start with reference to Qur'anic verses before citing the opinion of scholars.

Conclusion

1. The author should conclude the paper by identifying/listing a number of theoretical propositions (testable propositions) relevant to the behavioural framework expected of homo Islamicus based on the findings. This would represent a worthy contribution to the literature on homo Islamicus (without this, the paper lacks substantive contribution to the current literature on homo Islamicus). This is also expected by the readers since the last para before the Conclusion mentions "The above characteristics and guidelines of homo Islamicus as derived from the Qur'an as the primary sources of knowledge in Islamic epistemology will be the guidelines in developing the assumptions and hypothesis of analysis."

Additional Questions:

1. Originality: Does the paper contain new and significant information adequate to justify publication?: Yes provided that the paper includes a number of theoretical propositions/testable propositions based on its current findings. Refer to the comments.

2. Relationship to Literature: Does the paper demonstrate an adequate understanding of the relevant literature in the field and cite an appropriate range of literature sources? Is any significant work ignored?: Yes provided that the paper includes and acknowledges past literature in IE that have introduced and described the concept of homo Islamicus.

3. Methodology: Is the paper's argument built on an appropriate base of theory, concepts, or other ideas? Has the research or equivalent intellectual work on which the paper is based been well designed? Are the methods employed appropriate?: Yes

4. Results: Are results presented clearly and analysed appropriately? Do the conclusions adequately tie together the other elements of the paper?: The conclusion must include a number of theoretical/testable propositions relevant to homo Islamicus as discussed in the paper.

5. Practicality and/or Research implications: Does the paper identify clearly any implications for practice and/or further research? Are these implications consistent with the findings and conclusions of the paper?: The discussion on the implications of the findings need to be strengthened and elaborated further.

6. Quality of Communication: Does the paper clearly express its case, measured against the technical language of the field and the expected knowledge of the journal's readership? Has attention been paid to the clarity of expression and readability, such as sentence structure, jargon use, acronyms, etc.: Yes, but language editing/proofreading is required for publication.

Do the title and abstract clearly indicate the content of the paper? Are all the tables and illustrations necessary? Are there ways in which the article could be shortened without losing value?: The title is appropriate however it can be made more specific. The abstract however requires major changes. Refer to the comments.

Salaam Dr Hafas

Yes I note that at the time of submission you recommended Prof Aslam Haneef as a reviewer and I even sent him the paper for review purposes, though he didn't reply to the request.

As such it results in conflict of interest if you wish to add him as an author now. The ScholarOne system wont allow it and will highlight it as an unethical practice. Emerald abides strictly by COPE rules and takes into high regard issues of conflict of interest.

I suppose the only way to acknowledge Prof Haneef if he has assisted you in anyway is through an 'acknowledgement'. Unfortunately at this stage, he cant be added as an author. It would have been possible at the time of submission to include him or if you didn't recommend him as reviewer.

Thanks for your understanding.

A QUR'ANIC PERSPECTIVE OF THE ECONOMIC AGENT IN ISLAMIC ECONOMICS"

I write with regards to your article submitted to ISRA International Journal of Islamic Finance (IJIF).

As you may be aware, IJIF currently operates under a platinum open access model. All costs associated with making published works open access on Emerald's platform are covered by our sponsoring institution, the International Shari'ah Research Academy for Islamic Finance (ISRA).

Whilst our collaboration with Emerald has been successful to date, we have taken the decision to publish the journal via an alternative outlet going forward. If your manuscripts are under peer-review by the time the transition takes place in late 2022, you will be requested to re-submit your manuscripts to the new platform to protect the rigour of the peer review and audit trail of the article. If you wish to submit your article elsewhere, please let me know and I will withdraw your submission.

Please accept my apologies for this inconvenience. We hope that you will consider submitting your article to our new journal site. The new submission URL will be shared with you in due course.

If there is anything I can assist with, please let me know. Thank you for your understanding on this matter.

Dear Dr. Furqani,

I refer to Manuscript ID IJIF-05-2021-0102.R4 entitled "WHO IS HOMO ISLAMICUS? A QUR'ANIC PERSPECTIVE OF THE ECONOMIC AGENT IN ISLAMIC ECONOMICS" which you submitted to the ISRA International Journal of Islamic Finance.

The paper has now been English edited, as attached.

There are still some comments from the language editor for you to please look into. Kindly ADDRESS THEM and send back the FINAL REVISED paper for us to finalise. Please leave ALL changes in TRACK CHANGES MODE (i.e. do not accept changes at this stage so we can see the amendments in the paper).

When making further revisions to your work, please ensure that you do not exceed the following pagination requirements: using 12 font Times New Roman, 1.0 spacing, the article should NOT be more than 17 pages long, including references, figures, tables, appendix, etc.

Kindly check the overall changes as well and confirm if you are agreeable to the editing made.

At this stage, we would also kindly ask you TO CONFIRM that the paper is an unpublished paper which has not been published before in its current or substantially similar form, nor is under consideration for publication with another journal. It is important to confirm this as the next stage will be acceptance of the paper for consideration of publication in the Journal.

Our policy for acceptance of a manuscript is as follows:

- Any manuscript you submit to this journal should be original. That means it should not have been published before in its current, or similar, form. Exceptions to this rule are outlined in our pre-print and conference paper policies. If any substantial element of your paper has been previously published, you need to declare this to the journal editor upon submission.
- Your work should not have been submitted elsewhere and should not be under consideration by any other publication.
- If you have a conflict of interest, you must declare it upon submission.

See <https://www.emeraldgroupublishing.com/journal/ijif#author-guidelines>

Please also confirm the authors' contribution in the article.

Please note Emerald's guidelines on authorship as follows:

Authors should confirm that all the names which have been mentioned as authors in the article meet the following authorship criteria:

"Emerald subscribes to the authorship principles outlined by the International Council of Medical Journal Editors (<http://www.icmje.org/recommendations/browse/roles-and-responsibilities/defining-the-role-of-authors-and-contributors.html>). - Final approval of the version to be published; AND
- Agreement to be accountable for all aspects of the work in ensuring that questions related to the accuracy or integrity of any part of the work are appropriately investigated and resolved."
